COMMENDED FOR SERVICE

Major C. F. Hartman has earned splendid commendations for his services in France in checking the ravages of the Spanish influenza among the soldiers of the regiment of which he has been the commanding medical officer.

The Brigadier General commanding the 172nd Infantry Brigade issued an order commending Colonel Howard commanding the 343rd Infantry, the Surgeon (Major C. F. Hartman) and the Company Commanders for the excellent work that had been done in restricting the ravages of the Spanish influenza among the men of that regiment and the many lives saved thereby. Before being transferred to the medical command of the American Air Forces at Tours where he is now stationed, Major Hartman received the following letter of commendation from his commanding Colonel, Charles R. Howland:

"My Dear Major: Before the vicissitudes of the service separate us, I commend you for the services rendered as a Commander of the Sanitary Detachment of this regiment and particularly as Commander of the Regimental Infirmary and as Regimental Surgeon."

During all the progress of service by you in this regiment all questions have been settled promptly and for the best interests of the Service. You have rendered particularly valuable service here at St. Loubes in carrying the regiment through with what I believe to be a minimum of death and exposure.

I commend you very highly for your services in this particular as well as for your service during your entire tour with the regiment."

Very sincerely yours, Charles R. Howland, Colonel of Infantry

Major Carl F. Hartman, Distinguished Infantryman, American E. F.
